It is a great achievement for this store to excel its past efforts and particularly the values offered at its "hour sales" on Fridays. But we have done it-or rather do it-in the offerings which we make tomorrow.

Much of it is loss-selling. We are not getting cost in many instances where we regard it necessary to dispose of merchandise. All through we have sacrificed profits to bring prices down to make ex-

Baby Carriages Pushing Other Goods Out in a Hurry.

You see, the weather is generally more settled than this in Washington by the 1st of March. The sale for Baby Carriages and Go-carts has barely commenced this year-at least, people don't want them delivered yet, for we have quite a large number laid aside already. And then we have bought a larger stock this year than we ever bought before—the largest stock, in fact, that has ever been shown in this town. So what with one thing and another we are decidedly short of room. We are endeavoring to relieve the situation by fiercely cutting into the prices on other goods. We thought we had thinned out our stock sufficiently, but we simply have GOT to have more room, and must buy it at the expense of a large part of the cost of many goods we have marked for sacrifice. You know how prices are going up, and you are right in supposing that this is the last chance you will get of buying at such prices.

We will arrange the terms of payment to suit you without extra

Such a bewildering display of footwear has never before been shown in this city, not even by this store. More exclusive footwear fashions are not shown by the best of the shoe shops of New York. Rich's styles are the "correct" styles, because they have been pronounced "correct" by the most careful dressers-and because they are the creations of makers who set the fashions.3

Rich's styles for spring are arriving daily now, and as rapidly as they arrive they are made ready for your inspec-

Rich's desire to call your attention to the splendid showing they are making of ladies' and gentlemen's shooting, riding, golfing and gentlemen's surveying and prospecting boots. Dozens of styles are here for ready delivery and anything to suit your individual taste made to order in a few days. This is the only store in town carrying more than two or three styles of this sort of footwear.

Children's footwear is usually sacrificed for ladies' and men's. Here, children's footwear is made a special feature-an entire floor is devoted to the selling. Children's feet should be fitted carefully to prevent trouble in after years. Experienced fitters only are employed here, and the greatest care is taken that they get comfortably fitting footwear. It is this attention to details that has built up this great business.
